Coming Attractions:

1. Thanks to Traci Lester (RORNYC) who knows everyone, we are poised to offer a RTM adaptation especially for teens at the Mt. Sinai Adolescent Health Center.

We've met with the open-hearted and welcoming Dr. Sharon Edwards and Social Worker Shawna Aarons and if we pass our physicals we hope to start by Halloween. If the young moms are as enthusiastic as these professionals, our offering could be a hit and spread to other waiting areas.

2. Escalera Head Start Ed Director Carmen Brasuell & RTM Leader/Poet/Performance Artist Jane LeCroy will present their remarkable RTM Program with Head Start parents at two interesting conferences: The Westchester AEYC (Oct.07) and The National Head Start Association Annual Training Conference in Indianapolis, IN (Dec.07)

3. Thanks to Kristen Lynch, Jane LeCroy, and Deanna, RTM is getting a new surge of energetic restructuring that is sure to create better programs for teens and other young families. The better the program workshops, the more likely ongoing active reading will happen for the babies and their parents.
